Brief about Socio Economical condition of the School :

Charabari Sardarpara Prathamik Vidyalaya is located in village Charabari in Haroa, which is around 45 km by road from Kolkata. Most students of this school are inhabitants of Adibasi belt region and their families lead a difficult life in making their ends meet. The inhabitants of this belt are mostly landless labours and their principal occupation is working as laborers at construction sites, rice rowing and as guards in fisheries and bheries. Their survival is based on their daily earnings. In discussion with the school authorities the representative of our organization came across some heart touching incidents in the lives of these downtrodden people. The students of this school receive text Books from the school authorities but copies and other writing materials required by the students are supposed to be provided by the parents of these students. Most of the Parents fail to do so and their hopes for providing basic educational requirements subside. This is where our role begins and we step in.

Previous year we took a small step to counter the menace of Dengue by distributing mosquito nets to each student of the school which could also be used by the whole family. The school authority informed us that most of the students and their families suffered due to chilling cold this winter. In winter the temperature in villages is generally below the temperature as recorded by the Met department and the people in the villages have to work with nature and also face the adversities of nature. Though, the temperature is now rising but with a view to provide a better living condition in the coming winters we have considered to distribute 2 single blankets to the students which can too be used by their families . Mosquito nets will also be provided to the new entrants in school besides Education Kits for all the students.
